Apparently you are reviewing apps.

I'm a very happy owner of 3 iPads, but one aspect of the iTunes Store is plainly wrong in my opinion.

The information about all magazine and newspaper subscriptions misleadingly states that the app is 'free' in every case. Technically that's right, the app is free, but the price of subscription should always be stated at the head of the information and it never is!

To me this is misleading and deceptive advertising. Consumers get the point that the app is free, what they need to know when deciding whether to subscribe or not is the monthly subscription price, and that is invariably not provided
